Subject: Re: About Final Decision

Dear Olaf,

I apologize deeply for taking action so late. This is fully my fault and I just simply kept shifting this ahead: there was always something that took my attention. Sorry, sorry, sorry...

"My" group, the Orikami people, did in my view a fair job. They themselves tried over and over again to get in touch with the company but they got very little response. So when Orikami in the end says that they did not see much of the group, it is themselves they should primarily blame. You might object that my group then should have me try to call to the company (which they didn't), but then again I appreciate that they wanted to handle this themselves.

All five members had satisfactory contributions to the final result. I don't know whether I must give integer marks, so I propose grades in 1 decimal:

Veselin Kichukov 7.5

Francky Ngoba 7.3

Ishant Upadhyay 7.0

Dan Velev 7.5

Nick Wondergem 7.5

I think this reflects their achievements well.

Again, I apologize for being so late. Every now and then, worries over other students get the better of me and I forget to handle things I should have dealt with long ago – but (and in fact, that is fortunate for these students,) they do not belong to that category...

Kind regards,

Theo.
